MARCH 1966

SEASONAL PRICE DECLINES SUSPENDED IN MILK MARKET ORDERS

The U. S. Department of Agriculture announced that pending completion of emergency public hearings on Class I (fluid milk) prices it has taken emergency action to suspend changes in minimum Class I prices paid to dairy farmers in 45 Federal milk marketing orders.

These markets cover parts of Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Indiana, Kentucky, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, New England, Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Texas, and Kansas; and include the Milwaukee, Northeastern-Wisconsin, and Madison Marketing areas.

The suspension was effective March 2, 1966.

USDA officials said the emergency action was necessary because of present or threatened annual shortages of milk in these areas. The action was requested by representatives of dairy farmers in many of these areas who said emergency action was necessary to avert these shortages.

This emergency action suspends part or all of the seasonal price declines which would have gone into effect in all 45 markets. Prices in most markets will be held at approximately the February levels.

The Department held emergency public hearings on March 9 in St. Louis, Mo., to consider appropriate levels of Class I prices to be effective during the next several months in 35 of the Federal milk order markets.

Meanwhile, the USDA also scheduled regional public hearings to begin March 9 and in Denver and Washington, D.C. on March 10 to consider what would be the appropriate levels of Class I prices to be effective during the next several months in all 74 Federal order markets.

Gehl Guernsey Farms Inc. sold its Milwaukee fluid milk and ice cream operations to Hawthorn-Mellody Farms Dairy, a Chicago based firm, which will operate Gehl's Milwaukee plant as a branch of their firm.

Gehls will retain its Germantown, Wisconsin operation, which produces evaporated milk and specialty products.

Hawthorn-Mellody Farms of Wisconsin at Whitewater has purchased the assets of Hoards Creameries, Inc. of Fort Atkinson and took over operation of the plant and facilities effective March 1.

It was recently announced that the Laabs Dairy Co. would not be able to meet its milk payroll to more than 400 farmers. The company produces cheese and whey powder and has plants at Westboro, Willard, Curtis and Merrill in west central Wisconsin.

The Laabs firm had a $120,000 milk payroll and only a $44,000 bond.

Farmers shipping to the plant had been advised of the situation and had been told that Laabs trucks would pick up their milk for delivery to other area plants.

Wisconsin exported a record volume of milk in 1965 according to the State Department of Agriculture.

Tank trucks transported nearly 118.7 million pounds to other states in 2,579 loads. This compares to 1,479 loads and 70.1 million pounds in 1964.

These are supplemental or spot shipments and are in addition to the regular out-of-state sales of fluid milk and represent only a portion of total shipments.

Almost 40 per cent of Wisconsin's approximately 80,000 dairy farmers have installed and are using milk tanks for cooling and storing of milk while awaiting pickup for delivery to dairy plants, a report issued by the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture noted this week. As of January 1, 1966, 31,024 farms were so equipped, or 38.9 per cent.
